THE DAILY AVALANCHE

If you don't know a man well, loan him money, and then call at his house for your money; you will probably find him out.

Why is a loafer in a printing office like a shade tree? Because we are glad when he leaves.

The citizens of Savannah are about to be favored by Manager Templeton with the Black Crook.

One reason why General Grant don't say more, is because he cannot talk and smoke at the same time.

The DeWitt (Arkansas) Elector suspends for a week that the office may be repaired. Perhaps it needs chinking.

Agassiz says the Florida reefs were 70,000 years in building. The coral insects began, then, 64,000 years before the creation.

Mollenhauer, the leader and violinist, has invented a machine to teach the student of the violin to assume a correct position.

Mrs. Annie E. Kirby, on trial for the murder of her husband at Richmond, has been convicted and sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.

Menotti Garibaldi, to whom his father had intrusted the authority of Generalissimo of the forces operating against Rome, is twenty-eight years old.

Crosses are erected, candles are kept burning, and flowers are daily strewed, on the spot in Queretero where Maximillian was executed.

Hon. C. C. Shales, one of Wisconsin's noblest pioneers, and for many years president of the Northwestern Telegraph Company, died at Kinosha, at 1 p.m., Saturday, of typhoid fever.

The Louisville Courier says: "General R. W. Johnson, late of this military department, has retired from active service with the full rank of Major General of the United States army.

A writer of the Scottsville Register has an apple tree that bore apples twice a year for two years successfully, '65 and '66. The present year it yielded not less than five bushels, but failed to bloom a second time.

Major Ben. P. Runkle, Fifteenth United States infantry, has been assigned to duty as Chief Superintendent Bureau Refugees, Freedmen and Abandoned Lands for the State of Kentucky, vice Brevet Brigadier General John B. Ely, resigned.

A circular from Messrs. Scruggs & Dumble, the proprietors of the Atlanta Daily Opinion, states that the publication of that paper is suspended for the present. We learn that the suspension was caused by a "strike" on the part of the compositors employed in the office.

On the 22d instant the feast of the tabernacles will begin. Among the ancient Hebrews it was a custom during this feast to dwell in tents and tabernacles, and even at the present day there are those who erect temporary booths on their premises, in which they reside while the feast continues.

The Norfolk Virginian says: "We have been informed by Mr. John B. Upshur, the agent of the Virginia Immigration Society at this place, that the first instalment of immigrants, numbering between three and four hundred, will arrive at this port about the latter part of February next, and that the scheme of immigration is a complete success."

The Louisville Courier of Saturday says: "A rumor has reached here that a difficulty occurred late yesterday in Clark county, between Hon. Harrison Thompson, the Senator representing the district composed of Clarke and Madison counties in the State Senate, and a gentleman by the name of Martin, of Bourbon, in which both parties were wounded by being cut—the latter quite severely."

In a paper read before the Scientific Association of Trinidad, Henry Mitchell said that in consequence of the new and simple methods of preventing taint, fresh meat will soon be sold everywhere at two and a half pence sterling a pound; and he founds his calculation on the fact that there are in the provinces of La Plata twenty-seven million cattle and forty million sheep, and in Austria one hundred and eighty million cattle and three hundred million sheep.

The Cincinnati Commercial, referring to the negro suffrage proposition in Ohio, speaks the truth after the following fashion: "Of the proposed amendment we will say that it was unwise in Congress to make it a political necessity for the friends of Congress to offer it and support it at this juncture; and its conclusive defeat in Ohio must be accepted as absolute evidence that the extreme Radical policy of converting the South into black States is not acceptable to an immense majority of the people of the North.

The Fredericksburg Herald says: "A case was tried before the Circuit Court, last week, which involved a point we do not remember ever to have seen decided. Mr. J. B. Ficklen paid, through his agent, a hundred dollar legal tender note to Mrs. Forbes, which note Mrs. Forbes laid by for some two or three months before using. On attempting to get the note changed it proved to be a counterfeit, being so pronounced in Baltimore. Mrs. Forbes brought suit for the recovery of its value. It was admitted that it was the same note paid by Mr. Ficklen to Mrs. Forbes; but, under the the instructions of the Court, the jury found for defense, Mrs. Forbes having had the note too long a period to recover." Of course, it was appealed to a higher court, and will probably be reversed.

Thirteen out of nineteen Congressional Districts of Ohio went Democratic at the last election. Yet Ohio is represented or rather misrepresented in the present Congress, by sixteen Republicans and only three Democrats. The Cincinnati Enquirer truly says that a new apportionment of the State is required. It says: "We must have a new apportionment from the Legislature, which will give to each party in the State, at all elections where they are nearly divided, about one-half of the Representatives. We want the whole people of Ohio represented in Congress and not a part of them, as at present. We do not desire what is called a Democratic "gerrymander" by the State, but we do ask for an apportionment that shall give to each party a fair chance for half the members. The Republicans, as well as the Democrats, ought to favor this proposition."

The Jacksonport (Arkansas) Herald, of the 12th says: At the last meeting of the city council, an account was presented for medicine and attendance to one J. Woodruff, a pauper in the city. This Woodruff is none other than the teacher of a colored school which was in operation during the spring, and which was disbanded some weeks ago. This man was here without money, without friends and sick. Prompted by a sense of humanity truly noble under all the circumstances, our excellent Mayor had him cared for and saved from perishing in our midst. Let the account be paid by all means and let Radical negro mongers throughout the world know that their emisaries and negro missionaries are not among savages even though we be denied the privilige of citizens.

The Indian Commissioners have arrived at Fort Larned, all well, on their way to meet the warriors in council at Medicine Lodge Creek. Two companies of mounted Montana militia, under captain Hughes, had deserted, and a thousand dollars reward had been offered for the capture of Hughes.

Deacon, the sculptor, has produced an exceedingly clever illustration of "our national game"—a statuette of a base ball player. The figure is about fifteen inches high, and represents the pitcher, with eye intent, body poised and muscles tense, in the act of hurling the ball.

The coroner's inquest in the case of the riot homicide at Westfield, Massachusetts, is going on. Several witnesses have testified that at the time the constables fired and Brooks was killed, the rioters were perfectly quiet, and making no disturbance. The constables have hitherto claimed that the firing was done in self-defense.

A Dublin money lender charges five hundred per centum for the use of money. In a case recently in the bankruptcy court, the borrower stated that he received but two hundred and seventy pounds in the first place, had paid upward of three hundred, and there was still a claim pending for five hundred more. He finally agreed to settle for three hundred and fifty pounds. Some of our money lenders may take heart that they are not the most exacting Shylocks under the sun. They do not charge, as a general thing, more than one hundred and twenty per centum, and on extreme occasion twice that amount.

BREST, FRANCE, September 18th 1867.

We arrived at this prominent French comport this day at seven a.m., seventeen hours from Havre. We find Brest a quaint looking, strongly fortified city, of sixty thousand inhabitants, who are mostly sailors and their families, this city being to Britany, a district or province that furnishes France with her best sailors. We see nothing of interest, except a magnificent stone draw bridge, eighty feet high, under which ships of the line pass easily. The time from Havre to this port is made by the Periere in seventeen hours. We shipped at Havre, but generally passengers from Paris take the vessel from Brest; time, railroad, fifteen hours; Paris to Havre, seven hours; less rail and more sea by the latter route. As for ourselves we prefer steaming from the first port, as you can make yourself more comfortable than in rushing from shore to tug, and from tug to steamer at Brest. We remove our touch from the Brest of France, and are off. The land fades away, and we are steaming apparently in the center of a world of water; sea rough; nearly every one sea sick, your correspondent included, and a general disgust exhibits itself on the phiz of each passenger, who is attempting to put on sea-legs on this magnificent steamer. The Periere, of the Company General Trans-Atlantique, is the handsomest ship that shows a bow on the North Atlantic since the palmy days of that noble vessel—the creation of the genius of Geo. Steers—the peerless Adriatic, that now lies rotting in Liverpool. We have squalls, and driving wind, yet the Periere with a full head of steam on, and all sails set, from main to top-gallant, glides through the dominions of old Nep at the rate of sixteen knots an hour—a knot being one-sixth more than a mile. This seems like railroad time. We have tried the Cunard, Inman and Collins line, and we can say with confidence, as we did say in a set of resolutions that the passengers requested us to draw up on our late passage, that the Periere has no superior in cuisine, luxury of appointment in stateroom or saloon, that a more courteous or competent officer than Captain Duchesne does not tread a deck, and that this is the fastest vessel of her dimensions afloat. For evidence of the same we will refer to her agent, the gentlemanly and energetic George McKenzie, 58 Broadway, New York, who, on application, we feel confident, will furnish your readers with any information in relation to making a trip to Europe. The French lines furnish wine free, which on other lines is quite a tax, because wine or spirits seems a necessity where there is pauses, and our experience has been that it requires wine to navigate the ocean. A majority of the waiters speak English. They have a handsomely furnished barber shop, with a large stock of perfumeries and gentlemen's furnishing goods, where you can be shaved, or purchase any little article needed. The ship has a number of salt baths—marble tubs. The warming apparatus is splendidly arranged. The attention of all to their duties is perfect in system, and we will close on this subject by stating, in our opinion, that, when vessels like the Periere, commanded by men like Duchesne, ply the Atlantic, it will soon, indeed, become a ferry. She carries no steerage passengers, and she landed us in New York in nine days and two hours from Brest—3,100 miles—in spite of fog and squalls and head winds; the fastest time on record.

As Memphians are ever on the wing, and as many of them go to Europe, we feel it our duty to present to them all facts that we may acquire in our peregrinations, one of the most important being the details of an Atlantic passage, which is safe and pleasant on a good ship, as the Periere has proven herself to be. We have a pleasant company on board, representing all parts of the country, as well as many portions of Europe. We have, 'tis said, General Prim, of Spanish insurrectionary notoriety, on board, in cog. If so, he keeps dark. Also, a French dramatic corps, opera singers; also, one of the most magnificent specimens of manhood we ever saw—a massive looking fellow—who said he was going West to hunt the buffalo. He could not speak a word of English, and the third day out rattled off his gun at twice its value, beat fast young fellows at euchre, and said, judging from the absorbing qualities exhibited by the Americans on board, he thought, instead of hunting the Buffalo, (or B. Knats, as some wag suggested,) that he would open a drinking saloon in New York. So, as in other cases, we find that there are as sharp men in Europe as in other parts of the world, and that it wont always do to judge by appearances. Among those who special managers and whole-heartedness has assisted in making our trip pleasant, is Colonel Wainwright, of New York, a rising lawyer, of 61 Cedar street, who was kind to Confederate prisoners while in command at a military prison, and this is not the endorsement with Southern people. Without the Colonel, the passage would have been tedious. We are indebted to William Lowndes, Esq., a wholesouled, liberal gentleman of New York, for many courtesies, and will ever remember the companionship of our friend, Chapin, and his accomplished wife, of Lake Providence, Louisiana. Then we have a brave Pole, of 886 Hudson street, New York, who formerly lived in Aberdeen, Mississippi, one of the jolliest fellows on board, and a splendid auxiliary on a sea voyage. Captain Austin, of Zouave drill notoriety, who figured in your city last winter, and who is as au fait at sea in all the details of the trip, as he is with the bands of his musket; Miss Mary A. Limpsech, an interesting girl, from Preston, Canada West; and last, whom we will mention, but not least, is Pete Frorst, of New Orleans, with his family, a generous, big hearted creole, whose kindly attentions during our sea sickness will ever be remembered. Pete goes to New Orleans to start a cotton press. He is an active, industrious gentleman, and we hope much success for him. There were many other passengers, whose names 'twill not pay to set up. However, we must not omit your fellow townsman, Charles Filbert, of the firm of Filbert, Blaiser & Walker, and his bride, who go to Memphis to make a permanent establishment. To say that one is a gentleman and the other a lady is notice sufficient. Mr. Levigne, of your city, a quiet, pleasant unobtrusive gentleman, is with us, and August Daurice, an honest Memphian; also, the celebrated New York milliner, Madame F. Pinchon, who has promised us for the AVALANCHE, a full description of the latest fashions up to October 1st. This closes the poll on personalities.

B.

P.S.—We are at New York, and here we see old Memphis Captain Jim Jones, General Frank Armstrong and family, Major Rhea, of your paper, F. S. Davis, of your First National Bank, who is suffering from chills, our gallant and handsome friend, Treesrant, who has gone into business in New York, R. Cockerell, Esq., Fred. Woodson and his wife, one of Memphis' most polished and elegant daughters, and a whole host of Memphis belles, who, with their escort, are passing a pleasant time in their visit to the Empire City. We are happy to see them, and can but exclaim, Memphis girls and her gallant gentlemen have no compeers on this or the other side of the herring pond.

ALABAMA ITEMS.

The Mobile Advertiser, of the 16th, learns that the yellow fever is quite bad at Bay St. Louis, occasioning much distress. On Wednesday last there were five burials, the deaths all caused by yellow fever.

The death of Colonel W. H. Pollard, an old and respected citizen of Montgomery is announced as having occurred on the 17th instant.

The Board of Health of Montgomery report no yellow fever in that city up to the evening of the 16th.

General Swayne visited General Pope on the 16th to consult about the time of calling a meeting of the so-called Convention. It is thought the time fixed will be the first Monday in November. The registered vote was 166,289, and the vote for holding a convention was 87,672, and against it, 5,685.

Mr. John J. Harris has retired from the Tuscaloosa Monitor, and is succeeded by Mr. Ryland Randolph, who defines his position: "Imprimis, being white in every sense of the word, we are ardently in favor of a white man's government and strenuously opposed to Radical misrule and its concomitant horrors of raising Southern renegades and ignorant negroes in office above their superiors in integrity and intellect."

Mrs. Harry Hunter opens a theatrical season in Montgomery, November 1st.

The Montgomery Advertiser of the 18th says: "We are gratified to learn that the Alabama State notes are eagerly sought after by our people, and readily circulated by them. But few of the notes are being presented for redemption in greenbacks."

There is to be held at Selma, Alabama, a grand tournament, coronation and dress ball on the 16th and 17th days of November next. It will no doubt be a brilliant affair. Generals George D. Johnson, James H. Clanton, Hon. Alex White and others will deliver orations on the occasion.

The next session of the Alabama Annual Conference will be held at Lowndesboro, commencing October 31st.

Admiral Semmes will deliver a series of lectures in North Alabama.

Wm. P. Harbin, a lawyer by profession, and hailing from Indiana, has been lodged in the penitentiary for three years and six months, on conviction in Dallas county for obtaining money under false pretences.

R. H. Breckinridge, of Meridian, has been committed without bail for the murder of Doctor Burton. According to the report of the examination, it is a bad case for his wife, whose representations that the Doctor had taken improper liberties with her led to the commission of the act.

Judge Porter, of Greenville, was shot at a night or two since, while engaged at work in his office. The cowardly scoundrel who fired the shot is unknown.

MISSISSIPPI ITEMS.

The Meridian Mercury is the name of neat, well filled sheet, which Mr. A. G. Horn has established at Meridian. The editor says the Mercury "will be a white man's journal."

It is announced that Admiral Semmes will commence a series of lectures on the Alabama, and scientific subjects, on the 2d of November.

Mr. John McDonald, an old and greatly respected citizen of Lowndes county, was assassinated and his pockets rifled while on his way home from Columbus the evening of the 17th. The murderer was thought to be a negro, from the shape of his footprint.

The West Point Sunny South, of the 19th, says: "Wednesday and Thursday were the days for the Tournament, but we are sorry to say that the attendance was quite small. Eighteen knights were entered for the first day's riding, which was for $300 and the honor of crowning the Queen of Love and Beauty. Mr. James Loche, of Mayhew took thirty-two rings out of thirty-tree, and was the successful Knight. On the second day he was successful also, taking twenty-nine rings, and was awarded a fine saddle and bridle."

Pleasant Bowler, a colored preacher at Columbus, Sunday before last, added 130 members to his church. The Sentinel says he devotes himself to his legitimate business, but is often confounded with another colored preacher named Bolin, who recently made an attempt to organize a Loyal League in the county of Downes.

Heavy frost made its appearance in the vicinity of Aberdeen on Monday night of last week.

The city of Vicksburg is threatened with a cut-off by the Mississippi, which would leave it on a lake.

AWFUL OUTRAGE.

From the Harrisburg (Pa.) Patriot and Union.]

One of the most shocking and horrible events ever known to history, occurred last week in Maryland, by which the daughter of one of the most prominent and wealthy citizens of Cumberland county has been reduced to a condition a thousand times worse than death.

Mr. Charles Deane, a resident of Brady's Mills on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, a gentleman of education, and possessor of the large mill and other property in the village, had an only daughter, named Bessie, a young lady not quite seventeen, possessed of refinement and every virtue and accomplishment which nature could give or money procure. She had a form of exquisite symmetry and grace, and a rare voice which cultivation had trained to indeed a charming singer and belle of the country.

For some months past there has been prowling around Brady's Mills, a most ogreish looking mulatto, supposed to have formerly been the slave of a brother of Mr. Deane, living in Georgia.

This monster has lived in a filthy hut at the foot of Brady's mountain, with an old woman who seemed to be mistress, mother and housekeeper, all in one. No one knew his name, but by the wags of the town he was designated as Dan Scrunch.

On Monday, the 2d of September, Miss Bessie, being at home, having left school at Baltimore, where she was attending, on account of the serious illness of her mother, went, unaccompanied, to spend the afternoon with a neighbor, some distance away, and, returning in the early evening around the mountain, a sudden thunder shower came on, and meeting Dan was induced by him to seek shelter in the hut.

Alas! poor child; no sooner had the door been shut than the fiendish demon seized upon her, and despite her piercing screams and struggles, and in the presence of the old witch woman, he committed upon the chaste virgin the foulest outrage of which the mind can conceive or man is capable. He then dragged her insensible form out of the hut. The cool air revived her, and again her lips uttered a shrill cry, when this savage beast in human shape, standing upon her prostrate form, with the insane idea of putting it out of her power to tell of the crime, crushed open her mouth with the heel of his boot, and with his hyena claws he tore the poor girl's tongue from her throat. A small boy, driving cows in the vicinity, hearing the screams gave the alarm; but before help had arrived the fiend had fled. The excruciating torture of the delicate sufferer, and the frantic anguish of the parents no imagination can conceive. She is said to be in a dying condition—mortification having set in, and the invalid mother cannot long survive the shock. Dan Scrunch is still at large. The old woman was taken into custody the next morning, and stated that the brute returned during the night. The woods are being scoured in every direction, and he cannot long escape.

LIBERAL ADVANCES MADE ON CONSIGNMENTS

IN referring to our Card as above, we would say that in the future, as in the past, we will give our best attention to the interests of our customers on all business made to us. That with our facilities are at least equal to any, THE USUAL CHARGES will be MADE, and we flatter ourselves that the result to the planter on all business intrusted to us, shall be as favorable as that by any other house of equal standing, or from parties who may propose to transact business for less than we feel we can safely and safely afford to do. sm6

To the Cotton Brokers of Memphis.

GENTLEMEN—In furtherance of your wishes to lessen the transportation on cotton from planter to buyer here, we have the satisfaction to say to you that we have arranged with Mr. Jones, superintendent of the Memphis and Ohio Railroad, to place all cotton intended for us in separate cars, and to run the same to our Warehouse, thus saving a drayage in the one case, and avoiding the vexatious delay in the delivery of cotton at the Wharf, consequent upon the use of inadequate facilities provided there.

An examination of our Warehouse is particularly requested, and any suggestions may be made with it, and with the arrangement we have made with the railroad, can leave no room for forwarding Mr. Jones to his Agents along the line of the road.

Respectfully, R. B. CHRISTIAN & CO.

TUESDAY, : : : : : : OCTOBER 22, 1867

DEATH discloses the human estimate of character. The weeping crowd at the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, on Sunday last, the festoons of mourning, the sad pageant which wended its way through our streets, clad in the habiliments of grief, with the learned, the noble and the good mingling in the train, were but the honest tribute of hearts that loved and respected the Reverend Doctor C. A. DAVIS. We have already announced in these columns the death of this eminent divine—a death which has spread a general gloom over the public mind. We join in the universal grief which pervades the community, and feel unwilling to let this good and talented citizen pass away without a brief but heartfelt expression of our appreciation and admiration for his character. The death of a private citizen endowed largely with all the attributes that adorn life, and possessed of a pure and lofty nature, is regarded as a great loss; but when these qualities are united with useful talents, with experience in Christian labors, with a temper suited to successful execution, and an ardor of industry for the welfare and happiness of the people, their possessor becomes public property, and his death is mourned as a public and private calamity. These were the elements of the Rev. C. A. DAVIS; and hence his funeral was one of the largest that has ever taken place in this city, and hence the general grief to which we have already alluded. If the glory of victory in the dying hour—if the demonstration over the body can consecrate death—if the fame of heroism can repay the loss of the slain after battle—surely the spectacle of a whole community overwhelmed by a grief that was speechless in its sublimity, ought to be a source of solace to the friends of the deceased. It is almost useless for us to speak of the character of Mr. DAVIS. He was certainly an eloquent, learned and upright Christian. He was beloved for his many noble and manly virtues by all who knew him. His grave and stern dignity of character, his want of deceit and palaver, and his detestation of hypocrisy and humbuggery did not make him a favorite on a casual acquaintance. But he had the nobility of character, the solid worth, the steadfastness of mind, which fixed the admiration and bound his friends to him with hooks of steel. The characteristic of his great mind was solidity. He cared nothing for the meteoric flashes of oratory, and hence there was more strength and energy in his style of speaking than eloquence. He had that energy which always indicated honest sincerety, and hence he forced the assent of his hearers, instead of stealing their admiration. There was no subject beyond the grasp of his powerful intellect, and no theme, however complicated, that he could not unravel by his analytical powers. He possessed the reasoning faculty, in its practical application, in an eminent degree. As he thundered great and eternal truths in the ears of sinners, his stern and solemn accents seemed tolling the knell of immortal souls. He talked plainly, like a fearless man, confident of the truth of what he was saying and ready to stake his life on the issue. His face was grave, even to sternness, and of course was full of thoughtful earnestness. But when he arose to preach or to speak, like the Pythian Priestess, the triumph of mind over the body was complete, for he spoke like a man possessed of thoughts which he must deliver, and his winged words, harsh as they were, seemed to be the outpourings of an earnest soul—and the man stood revealed in all his christian splendor, full proportions of intellectual energy and dauntless courage. His greatest strength in defending truth was calculation. To this he brought all schemes and projects, and if he did not lay claim to a large share of inventive power, he could not be led astray by theories and principles that could not be utilized. He was sometimes impatient of contradiction, and was therefore, in association occasionally considered dogmatical, but this was the result of a quick perception of truth and an earnest love for truth. In the moral qualities that constitute firmness and decision of character he had no superior among all his cotemporaries. He never sacrificed the true to the expedient—right to policy. It was his unbending rectitude and love of the right that created as large a measure of confidence as was ever enjoyed by any citizen of Tennessee, who has adorned the pulpit while the lustre of his private virtues made his bright career still more resplendent. His name ought to be inscribed in the magnificent church which was erected through his energy and piety, in letters as imperishable as his greatness is fadeless. Like a true soldier, Mr. DAVIS died at his post. He was that kind of a warrior who conquered a most splendid heritage. His nodding plume never led a column into victorious battle, but he blazed out a hero in the vanguard of the world's grand march to eternity. If not mighty in arms, if not invincible in battle, he girded his loins for a far nobler struggle, and won upon the vast field of religion and humanity the proudest triumphs. How appropriate to the sublime heroism of his glorious life, the truthful language of MILTON:

"Peace hath its victories,
No less renowned than war."

It will require time, much time, to assuage the grief of the family who now sit in silent sorrow amid the shrouded grandeur of the home mansion. That home once bright and joyous and happy, is desolate now—that hearth linked to the fondest associations of this earth is now deserted, and hearts with all their hallowed memories and all their springing hopes are now brooding in sadness. We forbear from lifting higher the veil which screens the mourners from the public gaze. The sympathy of the world—of loved friends—are sometimes but a mockery for the sanctuary of buried love. We leave the household with the agencies which are balm to the heart made sore by Providence.

WE pity the negro. His Radical master will have the pound of flesh. Poor Cuffee licks the hand that is turned against him, and adores the wretch that would exhaust his heart's blood for coin or greenbacks. This tax upon cotton will bring the poor darkeys to starvation. The master furnishes land, tools, houses, fuel and working animals, and gives the negro half the product. This is the METAYER system, so much lauded by the French. It has been tried in France, and has worked well for centuries. It has been regarded as specially suited to a laboring people that are very poor. It will be seen that very little, if any capital is required for the laborer. This is all furnished by the landlord. Now from the honest toil of these "hands of the nation," must be subtracted some fifteen dollars on every bale of cotton. Say his share of the cotton only amounts to three bales. His tax on this is the enormous sum of forty-five dollars. He may then get fifty dollars net on each bale of cotton. This is a very high estimate. Then out of this sum must be taken the cost of his provisions for a year. This will leave him without a cent, and in debt. If he has a family he has no means of clothing them. The future is indeed darker to him than his own ebon hue. He has no master to furnish him with a comfortable habitation, a plenty of good food, an abundant supply of fuel, a good set of shoes and woolen clothes and blankets to meet the blasts of winter. He is starving, but he is free. He is shivering with cold, but he can vote. His wife is dying of absolute want, but he is a citizen of the great Republic. His children in rags appeal in vain for the thick linsey garments that once kept them warm and comfortable. This is freedom with a vengeance. The right of suffrage must be reward enough for the nakedness, hunger, cold and exposure to which poor Cuffee is now subject. Improvident, thriftless and lazy, he must beg, or starve or steal. Infanticide, feticide, death from neglect, from the want of proper nourishment, will soon solve the question for the poor negro. He will, he must soon pass away. Radicals tax him, and work him, and starve him, and his path to ruin is down an inclined plane. His velocity will increase with every step he takes. Cotton is falling in price, and if its decline continues, every cent that is taken from the pound of cotton demands a pound of helpless flesh. Every decline adds to the already frightful mortality of a race that rampant Radicalism has doomed to certain and swift destruction. The highest crime against humanity has been committed in the midst of the nineteenth century, by a party claiming to have for its motto justice and equality. This crime has been, first, to emancipate from the confrol of kind and attentive masters thousands of human beings incapable of taking care of themselves, and secondly, in conferring upon an ignorant mass the right of suffrage. To accomplish this high crime they have spent thousands of treasure and oceans of blood. In the name of philanthropy they are now driving millions, like dumb cattle, down to still lower depths. History will hold that party responsible for all the woes that have fallen upon this land. A restless, miserable, vindictive, cruel party, it battens on the blood of its victims. It has upon it the mark of CAIN, and we pray that its punishment may be greater than it can bear. The North is awaking to its duty, and will place a brand that shall burn to the bone of a party that has had its carnival of blood for more than six long years. It fought for Union with office, and now seeks to strangle the poor negro in the warmth of its unholy embrace.

WE are deeply pained to announce the surrender, on Sunday night, to the providential dispensations which are daily making such heavy drafts upon this community, of one of its promising and respected citizens. Captain BRECKINRIDGE F. BLACKBURN, who, but a few days before, seemed to be full of the promise of a long future, died at the time stated, of the prevailing fever, and passed, we hope, to that home of bliss which we are taught to believe is the destiny of those who have discharged their duty well and faithfully here. Captain BLACKBURN was of the celebrated Kentucky family of BLACKBURNS, and was the son of old Uncle NED BLACKBURN, one of the most popular favorites on the turf in that State, whose demise we had occasion some months since to record. He was a brother of, Dr. LUKE P. BLACKBURN, so recently returned from his political exile in Canada. We had the pleasure of noticing the fraternal gratification of their meeting here, some two weeks since, upon the Doctor's arrival from Canada. How sad to contrast the lit up countenances of both, then, with the dead and speechless corpse of the one, and the sorrowing, bitter tears of the other now! Captain BLACKBURN was a gallant soldier, and served during the war with great distinction on the staff of General CHURCHILL, of Arkansas. In one of the most terrible struggles of the battle of Missionary Ridge, he lost an arm, and wore to his grave that eloquent, though mute, orator of the true hero, the armless sleeve. He was a lawyer of fine attainments; but his attention being restricted to large dealings in real estate, he was not able to make much public figure at the bar. A speaker of great ease and force, previous to the war he was induced to appear on several occasions of high excitement which preceded that event; but he was not naturally disposed to that character of display. He was not demonstrative; but beneath his modest mien there beat as warm and generous a heart as ever felt for friend, or exercised for the misfortunes of those who needed a friend the most. Poor BLACKBURN! we shall oft recall those generous and partial smiles you always had for us, and wish, but wish in vain, to feel their influence more.

A BRIEF article appeared in the AVALANCHE, on Sunday, relative to Mrs. LINCOLN, which, written in great haste and at a late hour, was permitted to carry in it expressions to the printer, which, if it had been revised, would not have appeared. All of the editors of the paper, at that time in the city, were confined to sick beds, and an unusual amount of labor devolved upon the gentleman who wrote it, and who is free to say regretted that he had done so after he read it in the paper. This explanation is dictated by our own sense of propriety, and has not been suggested from any quarter. The family of Mrs. LINCOLN, as was stated, is of the highest respectability. She had all the advantages of education, and if she emulated the devotees of fashion, and sought to become a leader when she was, from position, "the first lady in the land," she stood upon a giddy hight that might have turned a stronger head, and one more used to the blandishments of Washington society. As to the sale of her superfluous wardrobe and adornments, she exercised but a right—an undoubted right—in doing so.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, October 21.

The Enquirer presents the name of George H. Pendleton as the choice of the Democracy of Ohio, Kentucky and the Northwest for next President, upon the platform of the Constitution, equal justice to all sections of our common country, equality for all, special privileges for none, the same currency for the bondholder that the people are compelled to receive, the prompt payment of the public debt as it falls due in the legal tender of the nation, the immediate restoration of the Southern States to the Union, with their full share of representatives in both branches of the Government, as guaranteed by the Constitution, and universal amnesty for all political offences.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, October 21.

Fenian General O'Neil has been engaged during the past week in perfecting the Fenian organization in this city. At a meeting here to-day he expected to recruit a regiment in the District of Columbia. The organization has arms, uniforms, ammunition and all kinds of war material already on hand.

The Treasury Department to-day received a letter from Brooklyn, containg a check on the Long Island Bank for $767.

ATLANTA.

ATLANTA, October 21.

The appointments of Colonel Harding, as Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick, and General Doyle, as Lieutenant-General of Nova Scotia, are officially announced.

NEW ORLEANS, October 21.

The yellow fever interments for the twenty-four hours ending at six o'clock this morning were thirty-one.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, October 21.

A Boston correspondent of the Express states that owing to the intimacy of Baron Holstein, of the Prussian Legation, with the wife of Charles Sumner, the latter procured his withdrawal from Washington, the result of the affair being that Mrs. Sumner has gone to Europe, and Sumner's establishment at Washington is closed up. Nothing criminal is alleged.

A Washington special to the Express says Mr. Ewing, of Ohio, a brother-in-law of General Grant, will probably receive an appointment with General Sherman, as an adviser, in the President's interest.

A Nashville special to the Express says the Legislature will probably act favorably upon the recommendation of Governor Brownlow for the reimbursement for loyal citizens for losses sustained during the war.

FOREIGN.

LONDON, October 20.

Important official dispatches just received from Paris in relation to affairs in Italy, announce that Italy has positively pledged herself to enforce the prosecution of the September treaty.

The Paris Patrie says that French troops were so posted that they could have been marched across the Alps at a moment's notice. This decided the steps of the Italian Government. This was accepted at Paris as rendering French intervention unnecessary, and the French expedition has therefore been abandoned.

The insurgents, in consequence of this unlooked for attitude of King Victor Emmanuel, have evacuated the Pontifical territory.

PARIS, October 20—P.M.

It is rumored to-day that the leading European powers will unite with France in a joint intervention for the settlement of the Roman question and preservation of peace. The French cabinet has addressed circular notes to its representatives at foreign courts, solemnly pledging the faith of France to enforce the stipulations of the treaty of September. The excitement and anxiety caused here by continually arising rumors is very great, and rentes are fluctuating.

MARSEILLS, October 20.

Accounts have been received from the Island of Candia of the arrival of the Turkish Grand Vizier and others, members of the Commissioners of Inquiry. The Grand Vizier had met the deputation of certain insurgents at Canea, in the presence of all the Consuls of foreign powers. The members of the deputation insisted upon a union of the Island with Greece.

Jackson township, Auglaize county, Ohio, cast 409 votes in the late election, and all of them were Democratic. There were seven Republican votes in the township last year.

Returns from forty-two counties in Iowa, give a clear aggregate Democratic vote of 8,193. Reports from all parts of that State show Democratic gains.

The Cleveland (Ohio) Plaindealer of the 17th says: "To show that the Democrats this year are in luck, we note the fact that in Jackson county the vote for Treasurer was a tie—1,840 for the Democratic and 1,840 for the Republican candidate. They cast lots for it, and the Democrat obtained the office, which is lucky for him and bad for his opponent."

OBITUARY.

DIED—On the night of the 20th instant, at Brookhaven, Mississippi, R. M. GILES, late Civil Engineer and Architect of Memphis.

MR. GILES was born in Bolivar county, Tennessee, but was raised in Memphis. He was one of the first Architects in Memphis, and there are many monuments of his genius standing here, to show his skill in architecture. He served through the war with credit to the service and honor to himself, in Ferguson's brigade. He was a most genial, generous, brave gentleman, and had the respect and esteem of a large circle of acquaintances, who will ever remember with melancholy regret his many virtues, and keep green his memory in their hearts. He was a member of the Masonic Fraternity, and during his late illness received every attention from the brethren of the "myrtle tie." He has been suffering for a long time from hereditary consumption, which he bore with patience and resignation; and when the summons came, he yielded

"Like one who draws the drapery of his couch
About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

It is believed that his near relatives are all residing in Memphis, and they will preserve his memory as fresh with their tears, as flowers that receive the gentle dews of heaven. Farewell, Bob!

A Card.

THE conduct of the Gas Company toward me, at the Crystal Palace, has been so outrageous that I deem it proper to make a statement of the same that the many customers of the establishment may know the reason gas is no longer used. At an expense of one thousand dollars I had gas fittings placed through out the house. The gas bills, about thirty-five dollars per week, have been paid with prompt regularity. What was my astonishment, when called upon to pay or give my note for $150 for bringing the gas pipe from the main on Front street to the saloon, may be imagined. I positively refused to comply with what I thought an insolent and unreasonable exaction, which was evidently an after thought, and sprung from motives of a vindictive nature. If he has the power to do so, and will regard it as an act of despotism to which I am unwilling to submit. In my absence from the saloon the meters were removed, which I should certainly not have permitted if I had been present. When such high handed outrage can be committed, it is high time there was some restriction. Had I been derelict in paying all proper bills, I could have made no objection, but when they were paid, and no gas used, and only an unjust demand presented to make me pay for bringing the pipe to the alley on which the saloon stands, I declined to be so victimized for the benefit of the Company, which is admitted on all hands to be soulless. The gas check who wishes to sell, go on, must open his door, and the Company that desires to dictate to me of its gas should instruct me in regard to the conveyance of its customers, since I have been in business, I have not paid less than $100 a month to this Company, and the public would scarcely believe that such a return would be made to so prompt a customer.

THE DISCOVERY OF THE AGE

NO material which has ever been discovered has effected greater benefits in the household economy than

McGILMSEY'S MAGIC SOAP.

It is a labor saving invention as well as an invaluable remedy in scurvy, scald head, eruptions of the skin and sores. Dandruff is removed from the head, the teeth whitened and cleansed, plate and jewelry cleaned, stains effectually removed from carpets, furniture, &c. Paint, varnish and marble with the greatest facility and without injury to the material. It is a great saving of time and labor in washing clothes. It is the only known soap which will wash flannels with the ease of cotton or linen without falling or shrinking. All these important objects can be effected without injury to the skin or the most delicate fabric. It possesses no disagreeable qualities whatever. The world is challenged to produce a soap which possesses so many valuable properties, and which is so innocuous and safe. It is a home invention, an entire competition in any part of the world. It has become a necessity in Memphis, and its use is rapidly spreading there and the south, and eventually will extend over the balance of the North and South America, Europe, asia, Africa and Australia. Manufactured solely by C. P. McGILMSEY, Memphis, Tenn and each package is signed at each end. Family grocery and drug stores. The proprietor is determined that manufacture shall keep pace with the rapidly extending demand for its use.

Suburban Residence

AT PUBLIC SALE.

WE will sell to the highest bidder, ON THURSDAY, October 31, at 12 o'clock, at our Salesroom, No. 278 Second street, the pleasant suburban Residence occupied by Charles Mosby, Esq., just north of Union street, in the Gayoso neighborhood of Rev. Mr. Young, Mr. Estes, Mr. Barron and others, three miles east of the city.

The place contains about four acres, with a good dwelling for a small family; fine wagon and an orchard of fruit, Apricots, peaches, pears, etc.

The owner is determined to sell WITHOUT RESERVE, and upon easy terms, to-wit: $1,500 cash, and the balance on one and two years with interest.

Public Sale

OF

ON TEN YEARS' CREDIT.

I PROPOSE to sell at public sale, to the highest bidder on THURSDAY, the 14th of November, 1867, about three hundred acres FARM and PARK LAND, on my Horn Lake Tract, situated three miles east of Memphis, at the head of Union avenue, and lying between Central avenue and the Old Shake Line road. The most popular street pavements being now in process of construction in Memphis, good turnpikes or street railways on the roads leading from the city directly through this property, must soon follow, thereby affording the most reasonable probability of great and rapid enhancement of values.

In stating the advantages of this property, I would especially refer to the HEALTH of the locality as having been always considered equal if not superior to that of any portion of the city environs; while the high character of the neighborhood, and the provision made for CHURCH AND SCHOOL PRIVILEGES, continue to add it as one of the most desirable points for a suburban residence which the vicinity of Memphis affords.

The TITLE to this property has been vested in my father and myself for thirty years without interruption and is free from any incumbrance whatever.

THE SUBDIVISION OF THE GROUNDS will be in lots of about Five Acres, according to plats to be seen at the office of the auctioneers. The avenues will be opened and the lots numbered so as to be readily examined before the day of sale.

TERMS DETERMINED ON SALE, I shall offer the following liberal

TERMS:

One-tenth Cash, the balance in TEN ANNUAL INSTALMENTS, with interest from date. Warranty deeds given, and trust deeds taken, which are negotiable. These terms will make it very easy for any one to secure a pleasant Home, which must constantly increase in value and comfort, as the growth of Memphis continues.

GALLAWAY, RHEA & CLUSKEY.

THE PAVING OF MAIN STREET has commenced at Madison street, and will be extended in both directions. It is being well done.

IT DID RAIN.—About half-past nine o'clock last night the rain came down sure enough—a welcome visitor.

ARREST.—Ella Clayton was arrested by Officer Martin, yesterday, for her participation in the Stoner affray, and will have a hearing before Esquire Miller to-day.

OVERHAULED.—A man named S. W. Moores obtained goods here to the amount of $400 or $500, and put off to Cairo, where he was overhauled by Officer Scott, who was sent after him, and will have an examination before Esquire Moore to-day.

"Emilie Melville Polka," a fine composition for the piano, by the late Professor E. O. Eaton, with handsome lithograph of Miss E. Melville, as in the "Daughter of the Regiment," will be found at Bernard & McClure's, No. 333 Main street.

OFFICIAL MORTUARY REPORT.—For the twenty four hours ending at five p.m., October 21st, there have been six interments from yellow fever.

Secretary Board of Health.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Health at Dr. Rogers' office at twelve o'clock to-day.

W. E. ROGERS, M. D.,
Secretary Board of Health.

WEATHER.—It was exceedingly warm in the sun yesterday. Last evening there was vivid lightning in the dark cloud hanging over the West. Everybody is wishing for rain in the hope that heavy frosts will be sure to succeed.

Good fires, night and morning, in family and bed rooms, this pleasant but cool autumn weather, is one of the best preventives of disease that can be employed. It should be universally adopted. Do not neglect it, if you value your health.

COLD WEATHER.—A large flock of wild geese were seen flying southward last evening, accompanied by their usual discordant music, which the Japanese youths at the late exhibition imitated exceedingly well.

WARRANTS.—Warrants were issued yesterday by Squire Moore for Mrs. Mary Hagerty and Mrs. Mary McCarty, on a charge of robbing Jerry Hagerty of the sum of forty Dollars. The will have an examining trial before Squire Moore to-day.

OWNERS WANTED.—Under this head appears the advertisement of John K. Moody & Co. in another column. The have a large number of articles, some of them with the owners' names, which, if not called for within thirty days, will be sold for charges. Read the advertisement.

CONVALESCING.—It is with the utmost gratification that we announce that Captain Cluskey, of the AVALANCHE, who has for some time been suffering from the prevailing fever, is rapidly convalescing under the successful attention of Dr. J. M. Keller. Without some unforeseen set-back, he will be able to resume his duties in the editorial department in a few days.

Emmons & Son, No. 10 Jefferson street and 393 Main street, have received from Police Gazette, London News, London Punch, Rural New Yorker, Scientific American, Round Table, Nation, Scottish American, Observer, Weekly Herald, Country Gentleman, German Leslie, True Flag, American Union, Literary Companion, Southern Society, Italian Paper, Army and Navy Journal, Police News, London Daily Times, Harper's Magazine, Catholic World, Galaxy, all for November, Demorest's Bulletin of children's fashions, for the fall and winter of 1867-8. Everybody goes to Emmon's & Son for their reading matter, and that is the place to get what you want. Call on them and you will get the worth of your money. They have also the London Art Journal.

GREAT DECLINE.—Iglauer & Pritz are now selling at a great decline on former prices. Their domestics and sheetings, calicoes, merinoes, empress cloths, and, in fact, every thing in the dry goods line, are marked down and now being sold at greatly reduced prices. Ladies' and gents' underwear at sale war prices. Be sure to give Iglauer & Pritz a call at 255 Main street.

VERBY & CARTWRIGHT.—By reference to their advertisement, it will be seen that this reliable firm are agents for the sale of Tennessee white whisky. They have a fine stock on hand of superior liquors, and an assortment of steamboat stores. This house is noted for its liberality in its dealings, and the excellence and purity of its liquors. It is only a few doors above the Overton Hotel, on Main street.

DEATH OF IKE PITTMAN.—This well known, and well-esteemed railroad man, died on Sunday morning at three o'clock, at the residence of Mr. James H. Vigus, No. 105 Third street, at the age of twenty-two years. He was for several years connected with the railroads leading into the city, and up to the time of his fatal illness, we believe was an attache of the Memphis and Ohio railroad. He was industrious and attentive to his duties, faithful and observant, warm-hearted and generous, he had numerous friends, who with his aged mother will be sorely grieved at his early death.

ED. Worsham, 22 Jefferson street, AVALANCHE building, received by last night's mail the Chimney Corner, Litterary Album, Metropolitan Record, Police News, Police Gazette, Sporting Times, Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, Scientific American, Sunday Mercury, Banner of Light, Freeman's Journal, German Leslie, Turf, Field and Farm, Base Ball Chronicle, Army and Navy Journal, Round Table and New York Weekly; also, back numbers of the Ledger, Appleton's Railroad Guide, Southern Society, Harper's Bazar of Fashion, Every Saturday (weekly and monthly parts), Harper's Monthly for November, London News (with a fine picture), Lady's Friend for November, Chimney Corner (monthly part), Waverley Magazine (monthly parts), Godey's Lady's Book for November, Leslie's for November, London Art Journal, all of which Colonel Ed. sells for cash. If Ed. is not there, little Cliff. will wait on you.

WAR AMONG THE DEMIREPS.—On Sunday night, a party of the boarders of Mrs. Stoner's mansion, on Fourth street, between Washington and Poplar streets, having returned from a hack ride, very much elated and inspired by potent potations, and no great while elapsed before there was a general row among the feminines, several bipeds of the masculine persuasion being present and surveying the scene with interest. It is said the excursionists were the same sailing party among whom were two New York girls, and Annie Melrose. Kate Stoner and Ella Clayton defended themselves, valiantly, and as the former had artificial knucks, she pounded her opponent severely—one of them terribly, making the claret flow profusely. Stoner and her friends, however, beat a hasty retreat, and then commenced a scene of devastation. Furniture and mirrors were demolished, and broken glass and fragments of furniture were scattered through the building. Kate, the mistress of the maison de plaisir, was arrested, and fined fifteen dollars, although the fight she had was begun by the other side. Annie Melrose was not arrested at the time, being severely punished already, as the policemen thought, and when called for in the morning had vamosed. The scene belongs to Sullivan, against whom former charges are pending.

THE LATE BRECKINRIDGE F. BLACKBURN.—At a meeting of the members of the Memphis bar, held in the Criminal Court room, on the 21st of October, 1867, Captain T. W. Brown was called to the chair, and Y. B. Waddell, Esq., requested to act as Secretary.

The Chairman, in a brief yet touching address, announced the object of the meeting to be to pay a suitable tribute of respect to the memory of a departed brother, Breckinridge F. Blackburn, Esq.

On motion, the following gentlemen were appointed a committee to draft suitable resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting: Colonel C. S. Cameron, Chairman; T. D. Eldridge, Esq., J. B. Heiskell, Esq., S. A. Beecher, Esq., and John F. Wade, Esq.

On motion of Colonel Henry N. Hart, it was

Resolved, That the members of the bar attend the funeral of the deceased in a body.

On motion of Colonel G. F. Foute, the following members of the bar were appointed pall bearers: C. S. Cameron, J. B. Fippin, D. E. Myers, J. W. Westcott, D. F. Kenny, W. F. Foster, George T. Hubbard and C. W. Hutchesson, Esqs.

The meeting then adjourned, to meet again at ten o'clock this morning, when the committee on resolutions will report.

T. W. BROWN, Chairman.
V. B. WADDELL, Secretary.

IS IT YELLOW FEVER OR NOT?—We publish the opinion of Dr. Baily, handed us by a friend on Saturday evening last, but two late to appear in the next morning's AVALANCHE. As the doctors seem divided on the subject, and the extent of the disease here appears to have been considerably exaggerated, we beg leave to let it rest among those to be settled whose professional province it is to determine the nature of the ailment for which they are called upon to prescribe. Whatever the disease may be that has afflicted our city, it has been very malignant, and beneath its poisonous pestilential breath some of our best citizens have fallen victims. Among these, near the close of last week, we may mention Rev. C. A. Davis, of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church; John L. Taylor, one of our most prominent dry goods merchants, and Dr. Everett, Secretary of the Howard Association. As to the causes there has been much speculation. Some think it was introduced into our atmosphere when the steamer Mohawk landed here with several cases of yellow fever on board, or when a fatal case or two were put ashore from other boats. This could hardly have been the cause, as the most experienced physicians, and among them Dr. Stone, for more than twenty years the Chief Physician to the Charity Hospital, New Orleans, established almost conclusively that the disease is not infectious, and even here quarantine was deemed unnecessary. A rather plausible theory has been suggested that tearing up the streets for the Nicolson pavement and exposing the accumulated filth that lay buried in their beds, and exposing the foul gases to the air and sun, contaminated the atmosphere and loaded it with poisonous vapors. In addition, the mains of the old Gas Company have, on the main streets, been relaid, and many of those of the new company have been put down, thus opening and exposing the rottenness that lay unearthed for the whole length of the city proper, to be wafted by the western breezes to the more eastern portions of the city, where the disease has been more frequent and malignant than anywhere else; and this obtains a share of plausibility from the fact that "Pinch," where no such improvements have been made, and the streets have remained undisturbed, has been entirely exempt from the fearful visitation. We do not presume to offer any opinion in the matter, for of what value would it be, when those lives have been devoted to the study of disease, their causes and their cures, are not agreed among themselves. We can only sympathize with our friends in their bereavement.

Dr. Baily on the Prevailing Fever.

EDITORS AVALANCHE: The excitement of yellow fever was very great on Sunday and Monday of last week in the city of Memphis. This excitement, to a great extent, still prevails. This is calculated to injure the city of Memphis in every point of view. Its business is destroyed; its reputation is injured to such an extent that the city will not recover from it for the next twenty years; moneyed men who wish to invest their capital in city property here will be deterred from doing so, because of the great alarm of yellow fever, and there being "five hundred" cases a day in the city! Hundreds of our citizens have fled the city, to all parts of the country, creating a panic in all those portions of the country to which they have resorted. Our neighbors in the country are all frightened. They will bars in the country are all frightened. They will not come to the city, for fear lest they will see and feel and meet yellow fever on every street in the city of Memphis. This is the excitement. How was it created? A few of the Memphis doctors met, on Sunday of last week, at the Gayoso House. Some had seen a few cases that looked like yellow fever and some of these cases had died, and they looked yellow, and were, therefore, yellow fever. Some had some two or three—some more; some said there were five hundred cases daily in the city, and it was terribly frightful, and every one had best leave home; some did not know what to say; some of them had never seen yellow fever, and therefore could not tell whether the cases they had were yellow fever or not. Now, I doubt whether there have been a dozen cases of fever—yellow fever—in the city of Memphis this season. I question very much if our oldest doctors in the city have seen any at all. I question very much if Drs. Grant and Fraser have seen any well marked, defined cases of yellow fever (these Doctors will, I hope, excuse me for the liberty I have taken in using their names). I confess that we have a most malignant fever prevailing in the city. It will kill the majority of those who take it, and the most of those who die from it turn yellow. I confess my ignorance in not knowing the cause of the fever, but I believe that it will and does prevail to a great extent at different times in all southern and southwestern latitudes. Any malignant case of fever of any kind will after death turn yellow. Congestive fevers, bilious fevers, jaundice, and severe cases of chills and fever will turn yellow oftentimes after death, but this is no sign of yellow fever. I admit that there have been some cases of yellow fever in the city, but these cases were brought here from below, and cannot be attributed or called local. Memphis is not in the yellow fever region. It does not come spontaneously. When it has been brought here from below it has always been confined to a certain part of the city. It is not an epidemic by any means, admitting even that it is in the city, which I doubt very much. The people who have been run away, or rather gone away, from the city, may return to it, for they may take this disease in the country, and be well as in the city. My opinion, let it be worth what it may, is that Memphis is as healthy as any city in the country, and with the exception of that malignant fever, which I do not name, is clear from all other diseases in the world. I write this on my own responsibility, and the question is open for discussion.

WM. T. BAILY, M. D.

PHŒNIX MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMLANY. S. D. McClure, Esq., of this city, has become agent of this staunch and successful company, for the States of Tennessee and Arkansas. The assets of the company amount to rising $2,000,000, and its business is managed with consummate ability, enabling it, as is published with its pamphlet advertisement, to pay dividends annually of fifty per centum. What permanent investment can favorably compare with it? True, in these times, when every sacrifice is made to sustain credit and preserve commercial power, those who have capital to spare for such "usances" may boast of their ten or twenty per centum per month, but it is illegitimate, and a sudden loss of principal as well as interest would be but just retribution. "The Phœnix Mutual," of Hartford, Connecticut, has always been in successful operation since 1851. Its directors are gentlemen of the highest character in the financial circles of Hartford and New York, and it is commended to "the full confidence of the public" by the presidents of all the banks of Hartford, and the Banking and Insurance Chronicle says of it: "Some of the young and vigorous companies, and, in one instance, one of the old staunch companies—the Phœnix—has done itself immortal honor by coming out boldly and abolishing the odious restrictions on travel and changes of occupation, and the rapid increase of its business shows that an appreciative public is not indifferent to those who have its best interests in view." The National Quarterly Review, in speaking of insurance companies, remarks: "But there are yet a few to be mentioned one or two Hartford companies, whose policies are as sure when due as bank checks. This is eminently true of the Phœnix Mutual, which has recently adopted several new rules that embrace all the best features in life insurance. The directors have declared every policy non-forfeiting; they also give the holders of endowment policies of peculiar advantages." The income for the past year is said to have "approximated pretty closely to a million."

This company, in establishing an agency here, has been fortunate in securing the services of Mr. S. D. McClure, long and favorably known in his connection with the Franklin Insurance company, of this city. His large acquaintance with business men, and his familiarity with business, will constitute advantages of which few can boast, in representing the interests of his company. His office is No. 16 Jefferson street, where he will be gratified to serve his friends by insuring their lives on the mutual plan—the most popular mode of life insurance, the most certain, and by far the cheapest.

NEW MEMPHIS THEATER.—MISS EMILIE MELVILLE'S FIRST NIGHT.—Last evening a fine audience greeted the opening night of Miss Emilie Melville, and her first appearance on the scene was hailed with a warm welcome, showing that the impressions of last season have not faded. She played "Little Cricket" to the full satisfaction of the audience, looked it, felt it, acted it, as she alone can; for it was easy, unconstrained and natural; never over done, and never coming "hardy off." The plaudits were frequent and appropriate. In the scene with Landry Barbeand, where the eminent child budding into woman, confesses her faults and quickens under the influence of the tender passion awakened by gratitude, the pathos and the archness, combined with naivete, brought forth involuntary applause. In the first act, when she directs Didier to the lurking-place where she was wont to conceal herself from her grandmother's anger, she favored the audience with the brilliant "il Bacio," which was enthusiastically encored. The fresh young voice, with the precision of an instrument, touched every note in rapid transition, and hovered like a bird over its nest, with graceful, fluttering pinions, in richest trills and cadenzas. To-night Miss Emilie will appear as the Peasant of Savoy, a beautiful drama, filled with exquisite music. One so admired and so worthy of admiration will certainly prove a card to the manager.

FAST TIME.—The Cincinnati Commercial of the 17th says:

"The Columbus and Indianapolis Central railroad will commence, on Monday, October 21, the running of trains to New York, with one change, in thirty-two hours. This is the fastest time ever made between our sister city and the seaboard, and will be of great advantage to the citizens of Indianapolis and the traveling public."

The Memphis and Louisville train makes close connections with this route. In fact, the arrangements are so perfect, entered into by the Memphis and Louisville railroad, that all routes will be opened to this end of the route through the new arrangement, and a selection may be made at any time by those who are traveling East and North. If we read the signs right, we should say that the Memphis and Louisville, Jeffersonville and Indianapolis, thence eastward, are probably the fastest routes, but we were not with the late excursion to Niagara, and did not learn all the points. Another route would strike a right angle at Seymour, Indiana, and, via Cincinnati, make either the Atlantic and Great Western or any other route by way to the Eastern seaboard. The starting point is the Memphis and Louisville depot, at the head of Main street, and Captain Asa Hill, or, for short, A. C. Hill, is the attentive passenger agent.

Keep cool, and go to the Arcade at ten o'clock this morning. There you can buy a mare, four horses, three mules, carts, dreys, wagons, counters, clothing, queensware, one fine sewing machine, stoves, vinegar, jars, white shad, etc. Be careful to act wisely. If you want to be happy, attend the sale.

We wish to call the attention of our many readers, and the public generally, who are in need of clothing, to the extensive and well selected stock of clothing and furnishing goods, also a splendid assortment of cloths, cassimeres, doeskins, vesting, etc., at Reid & Bro.'s, 15½ Jefferson street. They are selling goods at least twenty per cent. less than any other house in the city.

Low as is the price of cotton, it may rule lower. Laborers in India can be obtained at a more nominal cost, and its any numbers, for the cooles dollar, and the natural, at intelligence is that the crop there promises remarkably well.

Our manufacturers and owners of cotton will be driven out of the market at home and abroad by this foreign competition. There is only one remedy for it—the abandonment of the entire radical policy, financial and political.

Correspondence.

W. C. Thompson, Esq., Manager New Memphis Theater:

DEAR SIR: Like yourself, we have learned with the most profound sorrow how much destitution and distress has been caused in the city of Memphis by the sickness with which Providence has afflicted it. We earnestly desire to do something, however little, to relieve and to comfort those with whom we so much sympathize, and who in their acute sufferings so eloquently appeal to us. If they are not homeless, their homes are comfortless; if they are not friendless, their friends are powerless in these days of general distress to help them. We can do but little, but that little we offer. We propose to volunteer our services for Wednesday evening next, at a benefit to be given for the destitute of our own sex and their children, and do not doubt that you will be pleased to assist in that good task with the use of the New Memphis Theater for the night, and we also hope for such aid otherwise as you may feel able to give us, and that the company will also assist us in endeavoring to alleviate the distress which appeals so strongly to us, and to all who can do so, to relieve it. We are, dear sir, most respectfully and truly yours,

EMILIE MELVILLE,
LADY E. DON.

NEW MEMPHIS THEATER, October 21, 1867.

Miss Emilie Melville and Lady Don:

Your very kind notes, sympathizing with the sick of Memphis, and tendering your services to give a benefit for their relief at the New Memphis Theater, is this moment received, and I will most cheerfully aid you in your efforts, as far as in my power lies. Respectfully,

W. C. THOMPSON.

TEMPORARY CHANGE OF BASE.—The complete suspension of business here and elsewhere, unanticipated and continuous for the past five weeks, and the prevalence of alleged epidemics as disturbers of business, as if cholera and yellow fever raged in the city and county, compel the removal of the Southern Asylum agency to Hernando, to which place the business managers have temporarily transferred their families. The drawings announced for the 21st instant are postponed for a short time, until the managers and Directors of the company, scattered by the supposed epidemics, can be assembled.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, for children teething, greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation, will allay all pain and spasmodic action, and is sure to regulate the bowels. Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to your selves, and relief and health to your infants. We have put up and sold this article for years, and can say in confidence and truth of it what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—never has it failed in a single instance to affect a cure, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of commendation of its medical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "what we know," after years of experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfillment of what we here declare. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. Be sure and call for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup." Having the fac-simile of "Curtis & Perkins" on the outside wrapper. All others are base imitations. Sold by all druggists throughout the world. Price only thirty-five cents per bottle. RIVER NEWS.

AVALANCHE OFFICE,
TUESDAY, October 22.

BUSINESS—WEATHER—RIVERS.

Sunday was a clear and beautiful day, and yesterday was not behind it, but indications of rain were more prominent last night than for some time previous. The river at this point declines slowly, almost imperceptibly. There is some difference of opinion among pilots as to the channel depth to Cairo, but from four and one-half to five feet are the general reports made by them. A slight swell at Louisville is reported, but there is no change in the lower Ohio. White river is in bad condition, with not more than thirty-four inches at Little Island.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Business was tolerably active on the landing yesterday. Although our local packets did not get much freight, there was a large amount received by the Belle Memphis, McCune and one or two other boats.

The wife of Captain John W. Cannon is lying dangerously ill at the Louisville Hotel.

The Marble City, Captain Conway, is the regular St. Louis packet for five p.m. to-day. She connects at Cairo with the trains for points North and East. Mr. Masson is clerk.

The Rose Hambleton, Captain William Elliott, will leave to-day, at five p.m., for all points on White river to Jacksonport.

The steamer Myrtle, Captain William Hardwick, will leave on Saturday for Vicksburg and all points on Yazoo and Tallahatchie rivers.

The Mollie Hambleton comes off the ways at Pedushah to-day. She is announced to be in every way a perfect and complete packet, and in her new decorations inside and out will vie with the proudest ship afloat. She will, we learn, be here in about eight or ten days.

The steamer came in from the Arkansas with the crack trip of the season. She had, beside her other freight, 303 bales of new cotton. Captain Fenwick will back her out to-day for all points in the Bluff, and promises to bring out at least 500 bales next trip. Mr. Patterson is clerk of the Gleaner.

We learn that the people along the Arkansas are much alarmed about the yellow fever at this port, and that the passengers on the Pilgrim told some terrible tales. One of them, a Colonel, whose name we have, but withhold for the present, reported a few bottled cases, and fifty or sixty deaths. Our mortuary report, however, shows but an average of from three to four interments daily. Just as the battle of Shiloh opened, a youth fled to Corinth, and then told wonderful lies about the rapid fight. Every member of his company was either killed or wounded, and he alone escaped.

The Commercial had not arrived when we left the landing last night, but she was looked for every hour.

The Talisman, Tyrone and Nashville will enter the Cairo and Nashville trade as soon as the water will permit, as a regular line. James S. Hughes is President, W. T. Harman Superintendent. Captain Ben. F. Logan has been elected as the Cairo agent, and Corbett & Boyd at Nashville.

We regret to learn that the wife of Captain J. M. White died in New Orleans a few days ago of fever.

The Commercial is the regular United States mail packet for White river to-day. She connects with the train for Little Rock and with steamer for all points above Augusta. Captain Wm. Ashford is master, and Ed. Moreton is chief clerk. He is assisted by Smithers and Robinson.

The Des Arc will get away at five p.m. for Vicksburg and way points. She is the regular United States mail packet and will leave without fail. Captain John D. Elliott is master, and Carl Hanks is chief clerk. Mat. Glass checks off the freight in his usual masterly manner.

Bill Hicks, mate of the Lizzie, arrived in town yesterday from Cairo to get aboard his packet before she left for St. Louis. It will be remembered that he was foolishly charged with knocking a man overboard at a landing on the down trip of the boats. He was confined in the Vicksburg jail five days, and was made pay his board at that institution, but was released after proving his innocence.

We learn that the J. D. Perry will enter the Memphis and Vicksburg trade, and will leave here on Saturday next.

Ben. Frame is afloat again, and is master of the Natoma's deck. On this his first trip he brought up 351 bales of cotton, 35,000 feet of lumber, 25,000 shingles and 122 bodies of Federal soldiers from Helena, for interment in the cemetery at this place. Ben. is an old and number one mate. Ed. Smith, the assistant clerk of the Natoma, is a popular officer.

The J. S. McCune put her freight off on the City wharf-boat, and will leave for Louisville to-day, at five p.m. Captain Duffer is master, and Mr. Duff clerk.

The large load of freight brought out of the Ohio by the Berlin is still lying below the City wharf-boat. It is so badly mixed up that New Orleans boats won't touch it.

MONETARY.

DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE,
TUESDAY, October 22, 1867.

The Money market yesterday exhibited but very little relief, from the daily returns of currency reported, and the condition of local finances is anything but satisfactory to business men generally.

Gold opened in New York at 1st, indicating no material change in the situation. Sterling bills bought at 9½@9¾ and are holding at 1@9¾.

Silver is scarce, and is taken by dealers at 12@ for halves and quarters. There is no counter demand.

EXCHANGE—Is heavy, and nominally 9@discount for commercial bills. Drafts on the North and East are par to ¼ premium.

CITY SCRIP—Is dull and drooping; brokers bidding 40c, and asking 45c.

POLICE SCRIP—Is dull, and nominally 75c buying, and 80c selling.

COUNTY SCRIP—Is dull and nominal; none on the market and no demand.

No movement in stocks and bonds.

Tennessee money is scarce and inactive. Dealers bid as follows: For bills of Tennessee, old issue, 80c; Bank of West Tennessee, 95c; Bank of Chattanooga, 10c; Bank of Middle Tennessee, 95c; City Bank, 50c; Merchants' Bank, 50c; Northern Bank, 80c; Commercial Bank, 80c; Farmers' Bank, 80c; Union Bank, 90c; Shelby Bank, 80c; Southern Bank, 20c; Memphis Bank, 95c; Bank of Commerce, 90c; Bank of Tennessee, par; Bank of Memphis, par; Bank of the Union, 95c; Bank of Knoxville, 95c; Bank of Nashville, 95c; Bank of the United States certificates, 80c; Bank of Commerce, 90c; Bank of Fayetteville, 95c.

A wise policy on the part of those controlling the Government of the United States would have, in a great measure, stayed the panic in the Southern States, and, indeed, in the late war. The lack of statesmanship, the manifest inability of our rulers to comprehend the phenomena of cause and effect during the late war, and which became, if possible, more complicated when the war ceased, the tendency to keep alive the animosities engendered by strife, have all combined to produce, and have had a damaging effect upon our reputation abroad. It is these circumstances which have kept a tax-ridden people from seeking investments here, and made them content with low rates of interest rather than take the chances in a country nominally at peace, but where the fire of hate and passion burns as fiercely as when arms are worn arrayed for deadly combat.

COMMERCIAL.

DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE,
TUESDAY, October 22, 1867.

COTTON—The market yesterday was somewhat contracted for want of offerings, as well as buyers, but ruled firm in sympathy with an advance in New York. Buyers offered indistinctly for middling, while sellers claimed 17; which prices was realized only in a few instances. Sales amounted to about 800 bales. The following were the ruling prices at the close:

Ordinary	nominal.
Good Ordinary	15½@15¾
Low Middling	16@16¼
Middling	16½@17
Strict Middling	17@17½
Good Middling	18 @

GENERAL MARKET.

[NOTE.—Our quotations are the wholesale prices unless otherwise stated. In filling small orders to the city or country trade an advance of from one to five per cent. is obtained.]

CORN—The market rules dull, with ample local trade doing; shelled white and yellow rule at 85@90 c; car 70c @ 75c.

OATS—Dull, at 70c on levee, and 75c in store. Only a local trade doing.

WHEAT—Is in fair demand at $2 30@2 40 for choice white, and $2 05@2 15 for spring.

FLOUR—Is scarce, yesterday one firm, with prices steady; superfine, $7 00@7 25; fine, $6 50@6 75; family, $7 50@8 00; XXX, $8 50@9 00; fancy brand, $9 00.

PROVISIONS—Pork—Is the only article on the market, prices drooping; mess pork at $26 00@26 50; prime, $24 00; clear sides, 16½c; shoulders, 12½c; sugar cured ribbed sides 18@18½c; shoulders, 15@15½c; hams, 20@21c; sugar cured canvas, 21@22c; breakfast bacon, 23@24c. Lard, firm, with a fair demand; keg leaf, 15@15½c; tierce, 15½@16c.

Garibaldian's Defeated by the Papal Troops.

Ex-President Davis' Trial at Richmond.

WASHINGTON, October 21.—The sub-committee on Maryland affairs examined but one witness on Saturday. It is difficult to fix upon any decided plan for investigation, and therefore, it is likely to include much that is irrelevant, or that merely bears on side issues. About a dozen witnesses have been thus far summoned.

Judge Redfield, special agent of the Government on the Frazier, Trenholm & Company cases, sails to-morrow to effect a settlement of the affair.

Letters from Wilson, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, state that no one has been authorized by him to promise that he will vote either for or against reporting articles of impeachment.

There is much excitement over the approaching election in Virginia. The prospect of the Conservative ticket is greatly improved. The Radicals claim only five hundred majority.

NEW YORK, October 21.—Reports from Rome state that a fierce battle took place Thursday afternoon between the revolutionary invaders and the Papal troops, wherein the soldiers of the Pope reoptured Veroli. The Garibaldians sustained severe loss.

The World's St. John's special says a terrific gale occurred off the coast of Labrador on the 9th instant, and some thirty vessels were wrecked, also an immense amount of property and forty lives were lost. Steamers are leaving St. John's with relief for the sufferers, there being over 1000 people left destitute.

It is now stated that Jefferson Davis will certainly be tried at the November term of the United States Court at Richmond.

It is rumored that Sheridan will command a new military district composed of Maryland and the District of Columbia.

General Grant has ordered the trial of Captain Morris Schaeffer for the murder of Frederick H. Shepard, near Mobile, Alabama, while the latter was a prisoner.

NEW YORK, October 21, 12 m.—Gold opened at 144, at 11 a.m. declined to 143¾, and is now 143¾.

General Sickle's Career Reviewed.

From the Charleston Mercury.)

The most important matter concerning General Sickles is his conflict with the President.

The last plank to be nailed down on the coffin of the people of the South was the Court of the United States. So long as this was open there was hope that some brave and free man would make the issue before it, and test whether the acts passed by Congress, putting the Southern States under military despotisms, were constitutional or not, and by a decision favorable to the South, lift her out of the death meditated by the Radicals. This last plank General Sickles undertook to nail down on the corpse of the South. The President of the United States interposed. The completion of the Radical murder he arrested; and to put an end to all attempts in future, to perpetuate such an iniquity, he turned the attempting perpetrator out of his command. That the Radicals should raise a howl against the President for thus defeating the consummation of their policy, was a matter of course; also that Governor Orr should join in their howls. Leaving out of consideration the single act of his order No. 10, about which opinions are so various as to its benefits—we are not aware of any other act of General Sickles, which is approved of by the people of this State. They consist of arbitrary acts of tyranny, perhaps more numerous than in any other military district excepting the Louisiana district. Let us refer to a few of them:

1. And first—The forced salute by the firemen, at their parade, of the United States flag.

No flag had ever been carried in Charleston in the processions of firemen for the simple reason that their organization is not military. A flag is a war signal; and it never entered into the heads of these firemen that, when their only enemy was fire, it was necessary for them to carry a flag. General Sickles, however, insisted that they should carry a flag, and that that flag should be the flag of the United States. To this the firemen readily assented. Now was developed the real purpose of General Sickles' interference. With the city filled with United States troops, he orders that each of these firemen should salute this flag as he passed. What was the meaning of this? Why, to vaunt his military authority—to make a demonstration of his power—and to humiliate those whom he supposed had fought against and defied this flag. Was this the spirit of a gentleman? Was this the act of a friend? Was it the act of a generous foe? If these men were then faithful to the United States, as we believe they were, it was a declaration of unjust suspicion. If they were not, it could only be regarded as an insult, by force. Would such an insult ever be forgotten? The order, in its effects on the whole State was unwise, tyrannical and mischievous. A young man cut one of the stars out of the flag, meaning, we presume, thereby, that the event of the day had proved that South Carolina was not a State within the Union of the United States. He was seized by a file of soldiers and cast into prison, in Castle Pinckney, by the order of General Sickles. What does General Sickles now say in his defense, for arresting the process of the Supreme Court of the United States? Why, that South Carolina is not a State in the Union of the United States, but a military satrapy under his despotic sway! For merely asserting, in a symbolic way, what he has directly attempted and threatened to enforce by the sword, he casts the young man into a dungeon.

2. The eighthousand dollars in the Charleston bank! Where this money ought rightfully to go, we will express no opinion. All parties were willing that the courts of the country should determine the rightful owner. General Sickles thought proper to interfere, and to seize the money. Not content with the arbitrary act, he thought proper to make the most unfounded and foulest imputations against the parties, the courts, and the lawyers. He represented them as a parcel of designing, secret swindlers, who were trying to cheat the United States of their rights. False imputations by power cuts like a two-edged sword. It outrages, and reminds of weakness. These imputations were as far above the meanness he charged, and with which he insulted them, as he is from heaven. The Secretary of the Treasury has disposed of the matter as all were willing to dispose of it. He has wrested it out of military control, and ordered it to be paid into court for adjudication.

3. The closing up of the Savings Bank institution by military power! Again we will not go into the merits of this controversy. Before the war, certain soldiers of the United States had deposits in this institution. They affirmed that they had demanded the dividends or interest due to them at the time, which was refused. The officers of the institution deny the fact, and assert that they paid every applicant who asked for his money, the amount due to him. These officers are as upright and veracious men as are to be found in any community. Clearly, in such a conflict as to the facts, it was a case for a court. General Sickles puts in his sword, seizes the funds, and destroys the institution. He does more, he took possession of another savings bank, the Charleston savings bank, which had no connection whatever with the savings institution.

4. Two Northern men arrive in Columbia, South Carolina; one is a Washington bar room bully, affecting to be a newspaper correspondent; the other is an agent of the Radical party, to organize the negroes in view of the approaching elections. They meet in the bar room of a hotel two tipsy South Carolinians. One of the South Carolinians throws a glass of wine into the face of one of the Radicals. A fight ensues, in which the Carolinians, being drunk, get rather the worst of it. No arms were used, and very little harm was done, as the fight was speedily arrested. A magistrate in the city has the Carolinians arrested, and binds them over to answer at the next sessions. General Sickles orders the Carolinians to be seized by soldiers, puts them into Castle Pinckney, tries them by a military court, and they are condemned to six months' imprisonment in the castle. The magistrate who bound over the parties to the sessions, is turned out of office, and a mulatto put in his place.

5. A young man in Edgefield, a South Carolinian, inflicts a blow on another South Carolinian for a supposed offense. The party assaulted applies to General Sickles, who has the assailant arrested by soldiers and cast into prison in Castle Pinckney. He was there when General Canby assumed command, and has been set at large by his order, doubtless because it is a proper case for the sessions.

Such are a few of the cases of arbitrary and tyrannical conduct perpetrated directly by General Sickles himself. If we went down to his subordinates, we could greatly extend our recitals of the tyranny of negroes over white people. But these are quite enough to justify the apprehension, the uncertainty, the apprehension, the bad effect on business which existed everywhere throughout the State as to his course. No one could tell what next would take place. We affirm here in this city there was an universal feeling of relief at his departure.

The Mayor of Norfolk resigns because his pay is too poor. In this instance, it is the want of money that makes the mayor go.

Trustee's Sale.
BY virtue of a decree of sale made, by William H. Gelder, in the case of S. T. Watson, wherein R. S. Hammond was made Trustee, which was duly recorded in the Register's office, Shelby county, Tennessee, in book No. 61, pages 160, 161 and 162, by virtue of a decree of the Chancery Court of Memphis, entered on the 8th day of October, 1867, on the application of J. C. P. Hammond, administrator, with the will annexed of S. T. Watson, deceased, and in pursuance of said decree and decree, the undersigned, as Trustee, appointed in the room and stead of R. S. Hammond, deceased, will, on the 4th day of November, 1867, sell at public sale to the highest bidder for cash, in front of the court house of the Chancery Court of Memphis, the property in said deed of trust described, which is on the east side of Main street, in said town, west corner south 228 feet from the intersection of the intersection of Main and south side of Beale streets, fronting 25½ feet on Main, and with a depth between two parallel lines of 170 feet, with a front of 50½ feet on St. Patrick street, at ten o'clock a.m.
Monday, November 4, 1867.
Title believed to be good, but I sell and convey only as Trustee. J. W. HAMPTON, oct2 Trustee.

Trustee's Sale.
BY virtue of a deed of trust to me executed by John H. Waggener, on the twenty-ninth day of June, 1867, which deed is of record in the Register's office of Shelby county, in book No. 61, pages 174, 175 and 176, to secure to Hiram A. Parker the prompt payment at maturity of a promissory note specified in said deed of trust, for a part of said note and unpaid; now, therefore, by virtue of the power in me vested by said deed of trust, I will, on Thursday, the twenty-ninth of October, 1867, between the hours of eleven a.m. and two p.m., at the court house door, in Memphis, Tennessee, proceed to sell to the highest bidder for cash, the property in said deed of trust described, to wit: Lot No. 13, in sub-division C, in the partition of the heirs of A. D. Lee, and bounded as follows: Beginning at the northeast corner of lot No. 12, in sub-division C, in the partition of the heirs of A. D. Lee, on the west side of the Raleigh road, thence eastwardly, east 34 links from a poplar marked C, and thence

Garibaldian's Defeated by the Papal Troops.

Ex-President Davis' Trial at Richmond.

WASHINGTON, October 21.—The sub-committee on Maryland affairs examined but one witness on Saturday. It is difficult to fix upon any decided plan for investigation, and therefore, it is likely to include much that is irrelevant, or that merely bears on side issues. About a dozen witnesses have been thus far summoned.

Judge Redfield, special agent of the Government on the Frazier, Trenholm & Company cases, sails to-morrow to effect a settlement of the affair.

Letters from Wilson, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, state that no one has been authorized by him to promise that he will vote either for or against reporting articles of impeachment.

There is much excitement over the approaching election in Virginia. The prospect of the Conservative ticket is greatly improved. The Radicals claim only five hundred majority.

NEW YORK, October 21.—Reports from Rome state that a fierce battle took place Thursday afternoon between the revolutionary invaders and the Papal troops, wherein the soldiers of the Pope overpowered Veroli. The Garibaldians sustained a heavy loss.

The World's St. Johns special says a terrific gale occurred off the coast of Labrador on the 9th instant, and some thirty vessels were wrecked, also an immense amount of property and forty lives were lost. Steamers are leaving St. Johns with relief for the sufferers, there being over 1000 people left destitute.

It is now stated that Jefferson Davis will certainly be tried at the November term of the United States Court at Richmond.

It is rumored that Sheridan will command a new military district composed of Maryland and the District of Columbia.

General Grant has ordered the trial of Captain Morris Schaeffer for the murder of Frederick B. Shepard, near Mobile, Alabama, while the latter was a prisoner.

NEW YORK, October 21, 12 m.—Gold opened at 144, at 11 a.m. declined to 143¾, and is now 143¾.

General Sickle's Career Reviewed.

From the Charleston Mercury.)

The most important matter concerning General Sickles is his conflict with the President.

The last plank to be nailed down on the coffin of the people of the South was the Court of the United States. So long as this was open there was hope that some brave and free man would make the issue before it, and test whether the acts passed by Congress, putting the Southern States under military despotisms, were constitutional or not, and by a decision favorable to the South, lift her out of the death meditated by the Radicals. This last plank General Sickles undertook to nail down on the coffin of the South. The President of the United States interposed. The completion of the Radical murder he arrested; and to put an end to all attempts in future, to perpetuate such an iniquity, he turned the attempting perpetrator out of his command. That the Radicals should raise a howl against the President for thus defeating the consummation of their policy, was a matter of course; also that Governor Orr should join in their howls. Leaving out of consideration the single act of his order No. 10, about which opinions are so various as to its benefits—we are not aware of any other act of General Sickles, which is approved of by the people of this State. They consist of arbitrary acts of tyranny, perhaps more numerous than in any other military district excepting the Louisiana district. Let us refer to a few of them:

1. And first—The forced salute by the firemen, at their parade, of the United States flag.

No flag had ever been carried in Charleston in the processions of firemen for the simple reason that their organization is not military. A flag is a war signal; and it never entered into the heads of these firemen that, when their only enemy was fire, it was necessary for them to carry a flag. General Sickles, however, insisted that they should carry a flag, and that that flag should be the flag of the United States. To this the firemen readily assented. Now was developed the real purpose of General Sickles' interference. With the city filled with United States troops, he orders that each of these firemen should salute this flag as he passed. What was the meaning of this? Why, to vaunt his military authority!—to make a demonstration of his power!—and to humiliate those whom he supposed had fought against and defied this flag. Was this the spirit of a gentleman? Was this the act of a friend? Was it the act of a generous foe? If these men were then faithful to the United States, as we believe they were, it was a declaration of unjust suspicion. If they were not, it could only be regarded as an insult, by force. Would such an insult ever be forgotten? The order, in its effects on the whole State was unwise, tyrannical and miscievous. A young man cut one of the staff out of the flag, meaning, we presume, no more, than the evening of the day had proved that South Carolina was not a State within the Union of the United States. He was seized by a file of soldiers and cast into prison, in Castle Pinckney, by the order of General Sickles. What does General Sickles now say in his defense, for arresting the process of the Supreme Court of the United States? Why, that South Carolina is not a State in the Union of the United States, but a military satrapy under his despotic sway! For merely asserting, in a symbolic way, what he has directly attempted and threatened to enforce by the sword, he casts the young man into a dungeon.

2. The eighthousand dollars in the Charleston bank! Where this money ought rightfully to go, we will express no opinion. All parties were willing that the courts of the country should determine the rightful owner. General Sickles thought proper to interfere, and to seize the money. Not content with the arbitrary act, he thought proper to make the most unfounded and loudest threats against the parties, the courts, and the lawyers. He represented them as a parcel of designing, secret swindlers, who were trying to cheat the United States of their rights. False imputations by power cuts like a two-edged sword. It outrages, and reminds of weakness. These gentlemen were as far above the meanness he charged, and with which he insulted them, as he is from heaven. The Secretary of the Treasury has disposed of the matter as all were willing to dispose of it. He has wrested it out of military control, and ordered it to be paid into court for adjudication.

3. The closing up of the Savings Bank institution by military power! Again we will not go into the merits of this controversy. Before the war, certain soldiers of the United States had deposits in this institution. They affirmed that they had demanded the dividends or interest due to them at the time, which was refused. The officers of the institution deny the fact, and assert that they paid every applicant who asked for his money, the amount due to him. These officers are as upright and veracious men as are to be found in any community. Clearly, in such a conflict as to the facts, it was a case for a court. General Sickles puts in his sword, seizes the funds, and destroys the institution. He does more, he took possession of another savings bank, the Charleston savings bank, which had no connection whatever with the savings institution.

4. Two Northern men arrive in Columbia, South Carolina; one is a Washington bar room bully, affecting to be a newspaper correspondent; the other is an agent of the Radical party, to organize the negroes in view of the approaching elections. They meet in the bar room of a hotel two tipsy South Carolinians. One of the South Carolinians throws a glass of wine into the face of one of the Radicals. A fight ensues, in which the Carolinians, being drunk, get rather the worst of it. No arms were used, and very little harm was done, as the fight was speedily arrested. A magistrate in the city has the Carolinians arrested, and binds them over to answer at the next sessions. General Sickles orders the Carolinians to be seized by soldiers, puts them into Castle Pinckney, tries them by a military court, and they are condemned to six months' imprisonment in the castle. The magistrate who bound over the parties to the sessions, is turned out of office, and a mulatto put in his place.

5. A young man in Edgefield, a South Carolinian, inflicts a blow on another South Carolinian for a supposed offense. The party assaulted applies to General Sickles, who has the assailant arrested by soldiers and cast into prison in Castle Pinckney. He was there when General Canby assumed command, and has been set at large by his order, doubtless because it is a proper case for the sessions.

Such are a few of the cases of arbitrary and tyrannical conduct perpetrated directly by General Sickles himself. If we went down to his subordinates, we could greatly extend our recitals of the tyranny of negroes over white people. But these are quite enough to justify the uneasiness, the uncertainty, the apprehension, the bad effect on business which existed everywhere throughout the State as to his course. No one could tell what next would take place. We affirm here in this city there was an universal feeling of relief at his departure.

The Mayor of Norfolk resigns because his pay is too poor. In this instance, it is the want of money that makes the mayor go.

COE'S
DYSPEPSIA CURE.
THE GREAT REMEDY FOR ALL
DISEASES OF THE STOMACH
IS the discovery of the inventor of COE'S valuable Cough Balsam, while experimenting for his own health. It cured many in the Stomach for him which before had yielded to nothing but chloroform.
The almo t daily testimony from various parts of the country encourage us to believe there is no disease caused by a disordered stomach in which it will not speedily cure.
PHYSICIANS INDORSE AND USE IT
Ministers Give Testimony of its Efficacy!
And from all directions we receive tidings of cu
Dyspepsia!
It is sure to cure;
Heartburn!
One dose will cure.
Sick-Headache!
It has cured in hundreds of case
Headache and Dizziness!
It stops in thirty minutes.
Acidity of the Stomach!
It corrects at once
Rising of the Food!
Will be changed with half a bottle
Distress after Eating!
It stops immediately.
Cholera Morbus!
Rapidly yields to a few doses.
Bad Breath!
IT IS PERFECTLY HARMLESS!
Its unprecendented success is owing to the fact that it cures by assisting nature to re-assert her sway in the system.
Nearly every dealer in the United States sells it at ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.
